

RECOMMENDATIONS FOR THE HANDLING AND PRESERVATION OF TECHNICAL FABRICS

In order to preserve and ensure the integrity of the product packaged and dispatched by Textiles Omnes S.A. to each of our clients, we provide the following recommendations for the storage and handling of fabrics.

1. Move the rolls from one place to another using the appropriate means of transport, preferably a forklift. Use personal protective equipment.

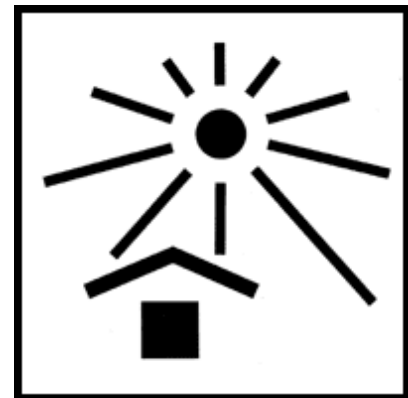

2. Rolls must be stored in a horizontal position (tube quadrant placed horizontally) to avoid misalignment or loss of their original shape.

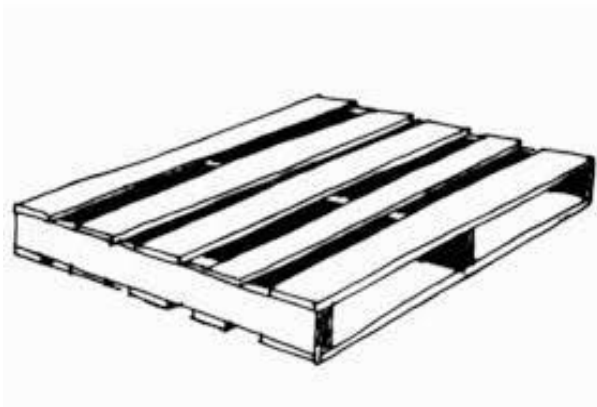

3. Ensure that fabric rolls are placed in a dark, cool, and dry location.
4. All fabrics are protected with black stretch plastic and covered with a polypropylene raffia wrapping. During storage, this protection must always be maintained to prevent contamination from physical, chemical, or environmental agents such as dust, grease, oils, ultraviolet radiation, humidity, rain, among others. These agents can cause fiber deterioration, affecting their textile properties..

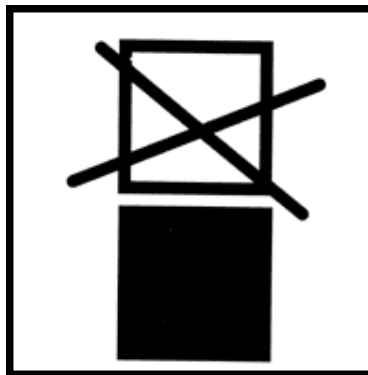

5. If a piece of fabric is unpacked and not completely used, it must be repacked with black stretch plastic and, if possible, covered with polypropylene raffia wrapping. Do not leave it exposed to environmental conditions; if possible, place silica gel to absorb moisture.
6. When unloading or handling rolls, avoid damaging the protective wrapping of the roll. If for any reason this occurs, it is recommended to cover the opening with black plastic and secure it with adhesive tape. The affected area can also be wrapped with black stretch plastic.
7. Rolls should always be placed on a raised, firm, and level surface, avoiding direct contact with the floor. Wooden or chipboard pallets or shelving may be used for this purpose.

8. Avoid stacking or piling rolls to prevent damage to the packaging or the fabric's structure, as well as to avoid the risk of entrapment from collapse.

9. Textiles Omnes S.A. guarantees its products as long as defects are inherent to the quality of the fabric and do not originate from its transformation within 180 days of invoicing. Claims will not be accepted for improper use of the fabric..
